RIBS

A large rack of ribs is the central focus, resting on a white paper liner inside a white ceramic plate. The ribs are coated in a dark, glossy sauce and garnished with fresh green herbs. To the right of the ribs is a small white bowl containing a dark dipping sauce. A wooden-handled brush with a red handle lies across the bottom right of the plate. The entire dish is set on a white tablecloth.

Ribs

Slow cooked, succulent and splendid pork ribs. The juicy meat will fall off the bones easily and melt right in your mouth

About Us

Austin Ribs is run by a Thai family: a mother (Aunty Penny) and her only daughter Yim.

Aunty Penny has retired herself from Government teaching career with her Ph.D. in Buddhism and is starting her best life living in Phuket and meeting new people, make them feel like home because she is a typical Asian auntie who always makes sure you are well-fed before you go leave our home.

Yim, which means smile in Thai. A Thai woman who grew up in her Grandmother's kitchen up in Khon Kaen where she found her passion in cooking since she was little. Yim spent her time abroad in USA to study when she was 16. She then attended a culinary school in Bangkok to study about the royal and authentic Thai cuisine in found the gem hidden in Thai Food process of cooking and she would love to represent the true taste of Thai by Thai team to surprise your palate with our recipes.
